

SUN CITIZEN OF the Year Edward Keohane and his wife, Joan, are welcomed to the reception honoring him by Sun Editor Robert Bosworth, his wife, Amy, and Sun Publisher Henry Bosworth.
Quincy Sun Photos/Robert Noble

SEVERAL PAST RECIPIENTS attended to help honor Edward Keohane as Sun Citizen of the Year. From the left are Zoltan Herbai, whose late wife, Carol Herbai, was the year 2000 recipient; Ann Yeomans, representing her mother, Clara Yeomans (1989 recipient), who was unable to attend; Tom Koch, whose father, the late Richard Koch, Sr., received the award posthumously in 1987; Robert Curry, 1998 recipient; Keohane; Joseph McConville (1995); Olin Taylor (1996); and Ron Adams, 1999 recipient.

SENATOR MICHAEL MORRISSEY and Rep. Bruce Ayers presented Edward Keohane with State Senator and House Representatives congratulatory commendations.

CITY COUNCIL and mayoral congratulatory citations were presented to Edward Keohane at Sunday's reception. From the left are Ward 1 Councillor Leo Kelly, City Council President Frank McCauley, Ward 5 Councillor Doug Gutro, Keohane, Dave Murphy, representing Mayor William Phelan who is in Ireland on a family vacation, Councillor at-large John Keenan and Ward 3 Councillor Kevin Coughlin.

MEMBERS OF THE Quincy Partnership, of which Edward Keohane is chairman, were on hand to help honor him at Sunday's reception. Seated with the guest of honor are Mark Bertman and Tom Galvin. Standing are Don Uvanitte, James Mullaney, Atty. Richard Barry, Robert Curry, Sandra Williams, Robert Galligan and Tom Koch. Marianne Peak, superintendent of the Adams National Historical Park and a partnership member, also attended.

CLOSE FRIENDS Cheryl and Bob Curry and Joan and Ed Keohane were all smiles at the reception. Curry is past recipient of The Quincy Sun Citizen of the Year Award.

MEMBERS OF THE Quincy Partnership put on a humorous poem skit for their leader, Ed Keohane.

GUESTS AT THE reception signed a T-shirt with Edward Keohane's photo on it and later presented to him.